From Our Heart To Yours

This issue is dedicated to all the Mothers and Fathers who have lost a child through miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or early infant death. Take heart in knowing you are not alone.

For no apparent reason, putting this month's issue of the newsletter together caused an immense undertow of grief for me. But that is how it always seems to be, right? "For no apparent reason" and we're a pool of tears. We have to keep in mind, though, that these tears are necessary. They help our bodies remove toxins, and help our souls to heal from the sadness.

I truly hope that this coming Mother's Day and Father's Day will not bowl you over with grief, but will be a day you can rejoice in the fact that you are a Mother and Father.

If sadness gets the upper hand, however... I do wish you peace. Peace of mind and strength of heart to get through it and get back into life.

I hope many of you made it to the Basket Raffle in March. It was a great success and a lot of fun! Thank you to Lisa Jerebko (the event's chairperson... again!) and all the volunteers who truly made it An Evening to Remember!

Have the best day as you can manage!

Peace

The mission of the Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network (WNY-PBN) is to assist the community to meet the needs of people facing the pain of perinatal death. We believe all people experiencing this loss have the right to support that reflects a standard of care regardless of the facility where the birth took place. The Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network supports an established standard of care following a perinatal death. We promote standards of bereavement intervention through educational support, community programs, and referral services to bereaved parents. The WNY-PBN is a program of Life Transitions Center, Inc., an affiliate of The Center for Hospice & Palliative Care.

You are a Mother—You are a Father

Have a Blessed and Peaceful Mother's Day and Father's Day

"I was thinking of you today, and how painful it might be,
to have lived through the death of your child when that was never the way you saw their life to be.

On this day when children honor their mothers
Though they are not here to tell you,
Always their mother you shall be.

For though your child has died before you,
So painful to imagine,
Your child lives on within you,
And to all who knew you well.

The light of your child will always
Return to touch you;
And in a quiet voice, whisper words of love.

This is not a mother's day that you have ever planned,
That sorrow and loss I respect.
Words do not say enough.
My thoughts are with you on a day
When you remain:
Their mother."

(author unknown)

Mother's Day and Father's Day may be the most difficult days of celebration for a parent who has lost a child. While this particular writing does not deal with adoption and its own sense of loss, I don't want to ignore it's own struggle with these days. Typically, these are meant to be days of celebration celebrating both the child that was meant to be yours and the gift that each of you was to the other. For you, your world is different now and these days may be bitter-sweet. Of course, you may have your own parents to think about, and you may have other children, or even grandchildren, but then you also have the one(s) that have left a "footprint on your heart."

If your loss was that of an only child, you may ask: "Am I still a mom? Still a dad?" There is no child to hold, no child that is visible to the others, and yet, you did mother/father another person.

You have been a mother/father to a child even if that child only lived for one day in the inner part of your being. There may be no mother/daughter brunch or no father/son talks, but unequivocally you are and have been a mother/father to a child. There may be no card that celebrates you. There may not be friends or family who recognize you as such. There may be those who think you are not dealing with your loss. But you are a mother. You are a father - and no one will ever be able to take that from you!

Follow your heart on these special days. Do something that you feel the need to do. Let others know your thoughts and feelings. Let your spouse know what you need. If you haven't yet named your baby, this may be a good time to do that. Giving your baby a name can be very healing. Do something on this day that will help you to have a special connection to your child. Hold Mother's Day and Father's Day close to your heart, honoring both your child's birth and death. Grieve the loss, but celebrate the birth.

Some more things you can do on this day:

1. Buy yourself a special gift
2. Join or meet with a support group (either formally or informally)
3. Keep your child's memory alive by lighting a white candle in their honor
4. Send your spouse a card or note, letting them know the gifts they possessed as a parent or the gift you know they would have been as a parent.

5. Buy a helium balloon and a permanent marker. Write a thank you note to your child for allowing you to be a parent and then set it free.
6. Thank your parents for the many ways they taught you to parent

And, last but not least: CELEBRATE YOU!!!!!!!!!!!!

Know that on each of these days, I will be remembering you, and the "footprints on your hearts!"

Blessings,

The 4th Annual Evening to Remember

The Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network (WNYPN) held the Fourth Annual "Evening to Remember" Basket Raffle on March 7, 2009 at the Lily of the Valley Masonic Lodge in Cheektowaga. The evening was a tremendous success! Not only did families get together to have some fun, we raised nearly $10,000 to support the WNYPN and their programs! All this during a financial recession! Thank you to all who attended and gave so generously to make this evening the amazing event that it was!!

Baskets were made in memory of babies who have died by miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or newborn death. Each year the families who have lost a baby contribute to this event by making beautiful baskets in their baby's memory. This year over 150 baskets were donated and over 400 friends, family members and the general public attended the "Evening to Remember".

There are many people behind any successful event and these are the people who made this year's Evening to Remember so successful; Cavalier Wine & Spirits, The Deli Shoppe, Battin Opticals, Buffalo Sabres, Hart Hotels, Hyatt Regency, the Andersons, the Currs, the Williamsons, DJ Tom and the Masonic Community Center- Lily of the Valley Banquet Hall for donating the hall.

Then you have the committee members that put their heart and soul into planning an event like this in memory of their children – The Evening to Remember Committee – Kristine Davidson, Cyn-dee Fahey, Christine Scott, Lisa Jerebko, Sharon Goldyn, Kelly Anderson, Michelle Morgan, Jennifer Merkel, Sara Noonan, Dawn Both-Kim, Deb Zmuda, John and Noreen Curr.

Save the Date!

May 2010: A Parent's Day Brunch

As Mother's Day & Father's Day approach, please be kind to yourself: this can be a very difficult time. Even though your child is not here to celebrate, they will live in your heart forever.

To honor all parents who have experienced the tragic loss of a baby, we are planning a "Parent's

Day Brunch." We are in the initial stages of planning, and expect to hold what we hope will be an annual event in May 2010, between Mother's Day and Father's Day. If you would like to be a part of the planning committee, please contact Christine Scott at (716) 836-6460 ext. 117 or email at cs@bppn.org.

All proceeds will benefit the Wings of Love Memorial Fund a program of the WNY Perinatal Bereavement Network (see page 5 for information about the Wings of Love Memorial Fund).

Devin Phillip Izydorczak

It has been 2 years since we lost our son, Devin, on Good Friday, April 6th, 2007. We found out at my 16 week ultrasound that Devin had a fatal disorder called Trisomy 18. We were given the option to terminate the pregnancy or carry to term with the knowledge that our son would not live long or at all. It was a very difficult time for us. We were so excited to be expecting our third son, so we were completely devastated. It was a surreal pregnancy for me. I could feel Devin moving around vigorously inside of me, yet I knew that without me, he wasn't going to live. As each week passed and my belly grew larger, it was difficult to hide my pain from the world. People would come up to me and congratulate me, ask me when my baby was due, if I knew if it was a boy or girl. Of course I had to lie to these people; how can you tell someone, "Well actually, my baby isn't going to live?" It was heart wrenching. Yet every morning, I put on my "game face" and went about my daily routine, cherishing every movement Devin made inside me.

As my due date began approaching, my husband and I decided that we needed to make plans for the delivery. We wanted to cherish every moment that we could. We decided to call Hospice and we met with Kelley Clem to discuss our plans for Devin's birth. We wanted to be prepared ahead of time. We wanted to have a special blanket, clay for footprints, camera for photos, Holy Water for baptizing him and an outfit to bury him in.

As fate would have it, my water broke only three days after meeting with Kelley from Hospice, so we didn't have all the things we wanted when we got to the hospital. Kelley was able to get all the things that we needed while I was in labor for 18 hours. Devin was alive inside of me all the way until he was born... but the birth was very difficult for him and his little heart couldn't survive it. He was stillborn at 8:22 pm on Friday, April 6th, 2007. My husband baptized him as soon as he was born. We wrapped him in his blanket and held him all night long. Our entire family was with us at the hospital and everyone got to hold him and love him.

Two years later, there is not a day that goes by that I don't think of Devin. Going to support group definitely helped. It helps to know that you are not alone in dealing with your loss. I realized that all the feelings that I had were normal and that I wasn't crazy. Everyone grieves and heals differently. My wound isn't as fresh as it was, but every now and then, something comes up and opens up my pain all over again. As the saying goes,

"time does heal." And although it is hard to imagine at first, it is very true. I will never understand why we lost Devin. I don't think we can comprehend God's reasoning. We have learned, after all this time, to accept what has happened. It doesn't make the pain go away or erase his memory, but helps you move on day by day.

A few weeks ago, I was sitting in the dentist office waiting room, and I read this article in a magazine. It touched me so much, that I started to cry. I decided to copy it down and I keep it in my purse with me. It has given me a lot of comfort.

"I've learned that unbelievably awful things can and do happen. In truth, they are not such rare, isolated events. Each of us has a story that would break someone's heart. Despite the grief and the unfairness of it all, we keep going. There are chores to be done. There are people who still need our care. There is a life to be led.

I've realized that, regardless of the heartache, we may choose the moments in which we live.

I've learned that love creates a tremendous capacity for grace. And perhaps it is that grace that keeps us moving forward."

Certificate of Birth Resulting in Stillbirth Bill (CBRS)

The Assembly Health committee voted on the CBRS bill and it PASSED 22-4 !!!

Thank you for all the emails, letters or phone calls made to the Assembly Health committee. It does make a difference. One rep who voted NO last year changed their vote to YES.

The bill is now in the Assembly Ways & Means - the same committee that held the bill the last day of session in June. We are working on a plan to make certain it doesn't happen this year and will need your help again.

Since the bill is moving on both sides of the House (Assembly, Senate) simultaneously, we will keep you informed on when the Senate's Health committee votes.

Keep writing to your own Assembly and Senate members. Sample letters can be found on the blog.

Thank you, Everyone!

Parent Telephone Support Team

When I lost my son, John Paul, in 1999, one of the things that helped me through the deepest darkest time of my life was to talk to someone who understood what I was going through. And that person was another mom with a loss similar to mine.

This prompted me to explore the possibility to start a Parent Telephone Support Team (PTST) through the WNY Perinatal Bereavement Network. The program was first started in 2001. Unfortunately, due to changes in bereavement personnel at hospitals and only having volunteers to run it, it has not been an active program. So, with the help of Lesley Jordans (WCHOB) and myself, the Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network has agreed to re-start the PTST program again.

What this program does is this: each newly bereaved family is to sign a HIPPA release form before leaving the hospital. On this form, is an option where the family is offered a phone call from another bereaved parent. If this portion of the form is completed, the newly bereaved family will obtain a call from a parent volunteer. All phone calls are kept strictly confidential.

If anyone wishes to more information about the Parent Telephone Support Team, either to receive a call or to volunteer to make the phone calls, they may call 716-836-6460 ext.117.

News from the Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network

We have received some good news! The Center for Hospice and Palliative Care has approved the Western New York Perinatal Bereavement Network (WNYPBN) an official position within their organization. We are now in the process of trying to obtain "seed" money to fund a part-time position to oversee every aspect of the program and events as the WNYPBN continues to grow.

We at the WNYPBN are aware that many in our network are diversely connected and we would like to utilize everyone's strong points where possible! If someone in the network is aware of a large company or Foundation that may be able to donate this "seed" money, please contact:

Christine Scott at the Life Transitions Center:

(716) 836-6460 ext. 117.

Or email Dawn Both-Kim at: forgetmenotnewsletter@hotmail.com

Thank you for your help and support!

Wings of Love Memorial Fund is a program being offered to parents in our eight county region of Western New York, under the WNYPBN. This Memorial Fund was created by one of the bereaved mothers, Christine Scott, in honor of her son, Jacob Wesley. The Wings of Love Memorial Fund will provide financial assistance for burial costs up to $350.00, to bereaved parents who can't afford these unexpected expenses.

"My son, Jacob Wesley Scott, was born still on May 27th, 2000. Even though several years have passed, there is not one day that goes by that I don't think of him, miss him, and love him. In his honor, I want to share that love and strength he has given me, with all of the parents in our community who experience the loss of their child."

Anyone interested in making a donation during this season dedicated to family to help this fund assist families in need are asked to please make checks payable to:

Poetry

Thank you, God

Thank you God for Your gift of life
For each is a part of Your plan
To bring Your love to our world today
No matter the length of its span

Thank you God for Franklin
Though his life was a flicker of light
He is alive for all of eternity
And in my heart his spirit burns bright

Thank you God for Benjamin
Whose life has forever changed
What I say and do and think and feel Gratefully, never to be the same

Thank you God for Margaret and Jason
Who taught me how to love
Their children who live in Heaven with You
And to trust You up above

Thank you God for family and friends
Whose arms never tire
Of holding, giving, sharing and loving
With courage and strength I admire

Thank you God for Your gift of faith
That takes me by the hand
And leads me to accept Your will Even when I don't understand.

And you're still not here...

Another holiday has passed...
And you're still not here.
We celebrated and laughed and ate and talked...
And you're still not here.

Another day has passed...
And you're still not here.
We worked and shopped and played and thought...
And you're still not here.

Another hour has passed...
And you're still not here.
I cleaned up the dinner and washed all the plates...
And you're still not here.

Another moment has passed...
And you're still not here.

I was typing and thinking and wiped away tears...
And you're still not here.
And you're not going to be...

But I think of you... always.
I love you.
I miss you so very much.

A Mother's Words of Love and Loss

Written for Margaret Swedene in Memory of Franklin and Benjamin by Aunt Sarah Noonan

From the moment that I knew you were Growing inside of me,
I've loved you with a love so deep
No one has ever seen.

I've felt your growing kicks and knew
Before I ever saw
That you'd be full of life and love
My greatest gift of all.

It is in the image of our Creator
That all are made, even so
God has made you so special
That He just couldn't let you go.

So, sweet baby, love of mine,
You must go to God above.
But it breaks my heart to let you go,
For you were mine to love.

He'll carry you in His protective hands
Up to heavenly skies
Where Mary, our mother, will snuggle you close
And angels will sing you lullabies.

I'll hold you forever one day when
I receive new birth.
But know my child, my gift, my own,
That you are loved on earth.

17th Annual

Walk to Remember

The 2009 Walk to Remember will be held on Sunday, October 11, 2009

During the months of September and October each year, hundreds of parents, health-care professionals and friends across the United States will be participating in a "Walk To Remember". These Walks are dedicated to the hundreds of thousands of babies that die each year through miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or early infant death...and are a beautiful memorial to those babies.

In 1993, the Honorable Dennis Gorski, Erie County Executive, gave a proclamation that the month of October would, each year thereafter, be recognized as National Pregnancy & Infant Loss Awareness Month in Erie County.

Our first planning committee meeting will be held on May 12th, and will meet monthly to plan this beautiful walk honoring our children. If you would like to be a part of the planning committee please contact Christine Scott, Chair at (716) 836-6460 ext. 117 or email at cs@bppn.org.

It's been almost 2 years since we lost our precious angel: Myrakle Alandra Eve Walker at 13 months. She came into our lives at a time when her Daddy and I really needed her. Due to the lost of her, we've grown so much. I know in heaven, her smile is uplifting to all that are there. I just wanted her to know we will never forget her and we will always love her... FOREVER.
